

Ms. SOLIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise also today to express my outrage in passing an irresponsible tax cut that Republicans gave. They gave $100,000 tax breaks to the largest and most polluting SUVs and left out millions of working-class families.

The $350 billion tax cut left out the working poor, left out a lot of Latinos in my district and a whole lot of people in the State of California. That is because Republicans prevented families that I represent in my district that make under $26,625 from receiving a child tax credit.

Thirty percent of Latino families in my district will not be able to claim any child tax credit at all; that is 1.6 million Latino families in the State. By contrast, only 17 percent of Latino families will see any benefit from the dividend tax cut. Thirty-one percent of Californian families also are not being helped by any child tax credit, and that is 2.4 million children in California alone, all children. So while SUVs continue to pollute our air, keep us dependent on foreign oil, spew out greenhouse gases and get a big tax break, working families get nothing.

BURMA SHOULD FREE AUNG SAN SUU KYI

(Mr. ROHRBACHER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ROHRBACHER. Mr. Speaker, shortly after I was elected to Congress 15 years ago, I went to the jungles of Burma and met with a group of young people who were then struggling for freedom and democracy in their country. They showed me a picture of Thomas Jefferson and said, We do not like Karl Marx. We want to have a government like you have in the United States, where people are free.

I will never forget that. They were up against one of the most brutal dictatorships in history, the SLORC regime, the military dictatorship that runs the country of Burma, although they would like to call it Myanmar.

The bottom line is the SLORC dictatorship is still in power after all of these years, and they have just put under arrest Aung San Suu Kyi, one of the true heroes of freedom on this planet, a Nobel Prize winner. Aung San Suu Kyi, we do not know where she is. She is under arrest. They murdered and brutalized many of the democratic activists there.

Today, this Congress needs to be aware of what is going on in Burma, and we must warn the dictators in Burma they will not get away with the dirty deed if they have touched one hair on the head of Aung San Suu Kyi.

NO MORE BUSINESS AS USUAL

(Ms. DELAURO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak on a matter of urgent concern. Today we put the House on notice that business as usual will stop until this body restores tax relief for millions of working low-income Americans.

We act and we speak out today because of a simple act of treachery: Congress taking from hard-working poor people to give to the rich, an act that abandoned millions of families and their children, 12 million children, and a tax bill that will cost $1 trillion over the next decade, that will give 184,000 millionaires a tax break of $93,000. The administration and this Republican majority could not find $3.5 billion to help one out of every six children.

These millionaires must somehow have greater moral value than the working poor, people who are scheduled to get nothing in this bill. Mr. Speaker, this is the most unconscionable legislation ever passed in this body with no economic justification and no moral justification; and we are through doing business as usual in this body until this gets fixed.

BUSINESS AS USUAL WILL STOP

(Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I want to join my colleague, the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Ms. DELAURO), in saying that it would be unconscionable for the House to continue to do business as usual when the voices and the needs of millions of hard-working American families have been closed out of the people's House. Without being able to participate in the final negotiations over the tax bill, with Vice President CHENEY in the room, the Republican leaders of the Senate, the Republican leaders of the House, they decided to simply exclude some 6 million families, some 12 million children who would be entitled to the $400 increase in the child tax credit.

That means that this summer those families on behalf of their children, those families that go to work every day would not get a $400 check as will millions of other American families on behalf of their children. But this administration and this Congress closed those voices out of the debate on the tax bill. They have quietly cut a bill to exclude the Senate amendment that was there to protect those families and to protect their children, and to help them educate their children and provide health care for their children.

No, we cannot continue to do business as usual when this Republican leadership and the administration cuts millions of Americans out of the Democratic system.

ZUNI INDIAN TRIBE WATER RIGHTS SETTLEMENT ACT OF 2003

Mr. RENZI. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 222) to approve the settlement of the water rights claims of the Zuni Indian Tribe in Apache County, Arizona, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 222

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Zuni Indian Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act of 2003".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) It is the policy of the United States, in keeping with its trust responsibility to Indian tribes, to promote Indian self-determination, religious freedom, political and cultural integrity, and economic self-sufficiency, and to settle, wherever possible, the water rights claims of Indian tribes without lengthy and costly litigation.

(2) Quantification of rights to water and development of facilities needed to use tribal water supplies effectively is essential to the development of viable Indian reservation communities, particularly in arid western States.

(3) On August 28, 1984, and by actions subsequent thereto, the United States established a reservation for the Zuni Indian Tribe in Apache County, Arizona upstream from the confluence of the Little Colorado and Zuni Rivers for long-standing religious and sustenance activities.

(4) The water rights of all water users in the Little Colorado River basin in Arizona have been in litigation since 1979, in the Superior Court of the State of Arizona in and for the County of Apache in Civil No. 6417, In re The General Adjudication of All Rights to Use Water in the Little Colorado River System and Source.

(5) Recognizing that the final resolution of the Zuni Indian Tribe's water claims through litigation will take many years and entail great expense to all parties, continue to limit the Tribe's access to water with economic, social, and cultural consequences to the Tribe, prolong uncertainty as to the availability of water supplies, and seriously impair the long-term economic planning and development of all parties, the Tribe and neighboring non-Indians have sought to settle their disputes to water and reduce the burdens of litigation.

(6) After more than 4 years of negotiations, which included participation by representatives of the United States, the Zuni Indian Tribe, the State of Arizona, and neighboring non-Indian communities in the Little Colorado River basin, the parties have entered into a Settlement Agreement to resolve all of the Zuni Indian Tribe's water rights claims and to assist the Tribe in acquiring surface water rights, to provide for the Tribe's use of groundwater, and to provide for the wetland restoration of the Tribe's lands in Arizona.

(7) To facilitate the wetland restoration project contemplated under the Settlement Agreement, the Zuni Indian Tribe acquired certain lands along the Little Colorado River near or adjacent to its Reservation that are important for the success of the project and will likely acquire a small amount of similarly situated additional lands. The parties have agreed not to object to the United States taking title to certain of these lands into trust status; other lands shall remain in tribal fee status. The parties have worked extensively to resolve various governmental concerns regarding use of and control over those lands, and to provide a successful model for these types of situations, the State, local, and tribal governments intend to enter into an Intergovernmental Agreement that addresses the parties' governmental concerns.

(8) Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, the neighboring non-Indian entities will assist in the Tribe's acquisition of surface water rights and development of groundwater, store surface water supplies for the Zuni Indian Tribe, and make substantial additional contributions to carry out the Settlement Agreement's provisions.

(9) To advance the goals of Federal Indian policy and consistent with the trust responsibility of the United States to the Tribe, it is appropriate that the United States participate in the implementation of the Settlement Agreement and contribute funds for the rehabilitation of religious riparian areas and other purposes to enable the Tribe to use its water entitlement in developing its Reservation.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this Act are—

(1) to approve, ratify, and confirm the Settlement Agreement entered into by the Tribe and neighboring non-Indians;

(2) to authorize and direct the Secretary of the Interior to execute and perform the Settlement Agreement and related waivers;

(3) to authorize and direct the United States to take legal title and hold such title to certain lands in trust for the benefit of the Zuni Indian Tribe; and

(4) to authorize the actions, agreements, and appropriations as provided for in the Settlement Agreement and this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. RENZI) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. RENZI).

Mr. RENZI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 222, authored by Senator JOHN KYL and identical legislation provided by the Senator and introduced by me and other members of the Arizona delegation, would resolve water rights claims and litigation in the Little Colorado River basin.

I would like to commend the commitment and the perseverance of Senator JOHN KYL, who has put many hours and much time into this important bill.

The bill provides much-needed assurance to settlement participants and is the result of 4 years of good-faith negotiations between the Federal Government, the Zuni Indian Tribe, the State of Arizona, and local water users and utilities.

By settling water rights claims and litigation, the legislation will allow the Zuni Indian Tribe to restore and repair wetlands important to the tribe's religious and cultural traditions. Wetland restoration will be done through a variety of means, including surface and groundwater development, while grandfathering current non-Indian water rights. This grandfathering mechanism provides certainty to the local non-Indian communities that depend on water resources in the Little Colorado basin.

The settlement also avoids lengthy and costly litigation. The parties involved have come together to find a responsible, commonsense solution that improves the environment, fulfills religious and cultural traditions, and provides a clear water supply roadmap for the area.

It is now up to Congress to take the final steps to make the settlement a reality. I ask my colleagues to pass this important legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mrs. CHRISTENSEN asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, S. 222 is a unique water rights settlement, carefully designed to protect the Zunis' most sacred sites, while at the same time preserving access to water supplies for upstream water users.

□ 1230

I extend my compliments to the Zuni people, the State of Arizona and the non-Indian organizations who participated in the negotiations that resulted in this historic water settlement.

Mr. Speaker, we have no objection to the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RENZI. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH).

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from the First District and would like to pause at this time, Mr. Speaker, to really commend my new colleague for stepping into the people's House and doing the people's work, and again, I would just simply pause at this juncture, knowing that some of the atmospheric that are at work today, I would just, Mr. Speaker, ask my colleagues to stop and think about the legislation at hand and what other tactics may come into play that could be counterproductive and hurt the very people so many in this Chamber come to champion.

It was my privilege to originally sponsor this legislation in the 107th Congress, and it is my honor to cosponsor this bill with my good friend and colleague from the First District, the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. RENZI).

This legislation ratifies the settlement concerning the Zuni Indian tribe's water rights on the Little Colorado River in eastern Arizona. The bill will provide for a wetlands restoration at Zuni Heaven, an area of land along the Colorado River that is sacred to the Zuni tribe of New Mexico. Consistent with the principles of tribal sovereignty, Indian self-determination and religious freedom, this legislation will settle ancient water rights and ensure that those rights are preserved for all future generations of the Zuni people.

The Zuni tribe's water claim is no new development. In fact, litigation of the water rights on the Little Colorado River Basin has been ongoing for nearly a quarter of a century now. This legislation represents a culmination of this process in a way that will reduce expenses for all parties involved. Indeed, we should look at this settlement process demonstrated in this particular case as a model for other settlements.

The affected parties have recognized that final resolution of these water claims through litigation is counterproductive and hurtful to the tribe, neighboring non-Indian water users, local towns, utility and irrigation companies, the State of Arizona and, ultimately, Mr. Speaker, to the United States. Therefore, negotiations have brought forward a settlement agreed to by all parties; and we now, Mr. Speaker, in the people's House have the opportunity to codify this settlement with passage of this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, the merit of this legislation speaks for itself. Again, I commend my colleague, the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. RENZI), for bringing this bill forward in such an expeditious manner, making it one of his top priorities, bringing it to the floor today.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to end on a hopeful note, that while other atmospheric may be at work in this Chamber, this is a chance to strike a blow for common sense, for Native American self-determination and for something that is vital to the people of Arizona and New Mexico.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. GEORGE MILLER).

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time, and I thank her for presenting this bill on the floor. And this bill has been properly represented. It is a matter of sorting out the equities between Indian water right users and non-Indian water right users, the needs for wetlands development and to protect the sacred rights of the lands of the Zuni people.

That is what the legislative process is supposed to be about, but that is not what it was about 2 weeks ago when we passed a tax bill. We could talk about balancing the equities of the Zuni people and the water rights of this bill.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. RENZI. Requesting regular order, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. CULBERSON). Members are reminded that they should always confine their remarks to the subject matter before the House.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, that I am.

We are talking about a bill that has gone through many, many years of negotiation and a bill that is designed to balance the equities. We spent considerable time on a tax bill.

Mr. RENZI. Mr. Speaker, I would ask for a germane issue and regular order; I would ask that the issue at hand, which is the water rights for the Zunis, be addressed and not be used for a side show, and ask for regular order, please.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, regular order is what the gentleman from California is following.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will listen to the gentleman's remarks, and expects that the gentleman will confine his remarks to the bill before the House, and if the gentleman's remarks lose the requisite nexus, the Chair will sustain a point of order.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, once again, I would say that this bill is about a legislative process where all sides have been heard, agreement has come. That is why this bill is on suspension. And yet we have seen that that legislative process has not worked for millions of American families and their children when the tax bill left out their equitable claim; as the Zunis claim an equitable claim for their traditional water rights, for the historic water rights, these people were making an equitable claim on behalf of their children.

They were making an equitable claim that their children, their family, should get the same $400 that millions of other American families got, but in designing the tax bill, the Republicans simply left out those wage earners, those people who go to work who earn $10,000 to $26,000 a year, some 12 million children who will not get the benefit of the child tax credit.

The Zunis would argue, if we simply cut them out of the water development rights, if we simply cut them out of their historic water rights and we gave it to non-Indians for use in development or we protected the wetlands and we did not take care of their sacred lands, they would argue it is not fair.

I am simply presenting that the arguments that are presented here today on behalf of the Zunis, which are very reasonable, very fair, were never presented on behalf of millions of Americans when they were cut out of a tax bill; and they will now not receive their check this summer as will others.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. RENZI. Mr. Speaker, regular order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would remind Members it is essential to maintain a nexus between the subject matter before the House and the scope of their arguments.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. The gentleman from California would say to the Chair, I think there is a very strong nexus being maintained here. It is about equity and it is about justice, and it is about economic justice. It is about historic claims.

The child tax credit is not new. It is an old claim before this Congress, where the Congress decided the children of the Zuni tribe would be entitled to a tax credit if their parents worked. Many Zunis, I suspect, are eligible for that tax credit, but they are not under this tax bill because of the difficulty in finding the kind of wages that would pay what would make them eligible for that kind of tax credit.

The nexus is here. The nexus is clear. The nexus is about an abuse of the legislative process, unlike the one which we are going through here. That is why my colleague from Connecticut (Ms. DELAURO) said that we should not operate business as usual. The ranking member of the Committee on Ways and Means suggested the same thing, and I would just say that I think they are correct.

Mr. RENZI. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she might consume to the gentleman from Connecticut (Ms. DELAURO).

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

This bill will provide critical access to the Little Colorado River Basin to allow the Zuni Indian tribe acquisition of surface water rights and development of ground water. The acquisition of water rights and associated lands are vital to the Zuni Indian tribe's future economic development.

Along those same lines, the child tax credit is critical in helping low-income families achieve some level of economic security.

This bill secures tribal rights to assure water supplies for present and future generations, while at the same time providing for sound management of an increasingly scarce resource. Because of the importance and the sacredness of all forms and sources of water, all prayers and songs of the three major components of the Zuni religion contain language asking for rain and snow to ensure that all crops have enough water to finish their life pass, to provide sustenance for their Zuni children.

Likewise, ensuring access to the child tax credit will help Zuni families to provide economic sustenance to their children. In Arizona, 138,000 families with children, 21 percent of families in the State, are not helped by the child tax credit increase because of the Republicans last-minute actions; 403,000 Arizona children, including Zuni children, would be eligible if the child tax credit were made fully refundable, with an additional $259 million in credits going to families in that State. The children of military personnel, Zunis who have served in our military, their children are going to be left behind.

We cannot in good conscience debate a bill here today that does not take into consideration the economics of the issues of the Zuni tribe, their water rights, their religious rights, their economic rights. It is about the economic security of working families, of low-income wage earners in this country, that we debate here today: water rights, economic rights, child tax credit.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. RENZI. Mr. Speaker, could I ask for regular order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would remind Members, quoting from annotations in the House Rules and Manual under rule XVII, clause 1, that during debate on a bill a Member under recognition must confine his remarks to the pending legislation; that is, the Member must not dwell on another measure not before the House. Rather, the Member must maintain a constant nexus between debate and the subject matter of the bill.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the constant nexus has been made and that bridge has been kept.

I ask unanimous consent to bring up H.R. 2286 that would fix this terrible injustice.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the guidelines consistently issued by successive Speakers, as recorded on page 712 of the House Rules and Manual, the Chair is constrained not to entertain the gentleman's request until it has been cleared by the bipartisan floor and committee leaderships.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

We are committed to the water rights settlement, but we are also committed to fixing the tax bill that was recently passed and providing benefits to the millions of people who have been left out.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. RENZI. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from Wyoming (Mrs. CUBIN).

Mrs. CUBIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

I just wanted to ask any Member who has spoken to this bill on the other side if, in fact, they are in favor of the bill that is before us today? Would anyone like to enter into a colloquy?

No one would like to enter into a colloquy on that issue, whether or not they are in favor or opposed to the vote that is here?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, will the gentlewoman yield?

Mrs. CUBIN. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, what is the colloquy about?

Mrs. CUBIN. I would like to know whether or not the gentleman is in favor of the bill that is here before us today or not.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I supported the bill. I just do not support business as usual right now, as the gentlewoman understands.

Mrs. CUBIN. Then follow-up question, does the gentleman intend to follow his support for the bill with an affirmative vote on the bill?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I have a follow-up question for the gentlewoman from Wyoming. Does she support improving the child tax credit so that millions of American families can get a tax credit, many in the gentlewoman's State that have been cut out of the tax bill?

Mrs. CUBIN. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time, does the gentleman intend to answer the question?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Colloquies are two-way conversations. Would the gentlewoman support the unanimous consent request to bring up the fixing of the tax bill?

Mrs. CUBIN. No, sir, I do not.

Does the gentleman intend to answer my question?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I answered the gentlewoman's question. I strongly support the bill.

Mrs. CUBIN. Will the gentleman vote in favor of the bill?

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. No, I will not.

Mr. RENZI. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. RENZI) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 222.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds of those present have voted in the affirmative.

Mr. RENZI. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX and the

Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK LAND EXCHANGE ACT

Mrs. CUBIN. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 273) to provide for the expeditious completion of the acquisition of land owned by the State of Wyoming within the boundaries of Grand Teton National Park, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 273

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Grand Teton National Park Land Exchange Act".

SEC. 2. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this Act:

(1) The term "Federal lands" means public lands as defined in section 103(e) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1702(e)).

(2) The term "Governor" means the Governor of the State of Wyoming.

(3) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

(4) The term "State lands" means lands and interest in lands owned by the State of Wyoming within the boundaries of Grand Teton National Park as identified on a map titled "Private, State & County Inholdings Grand Teton National Park", dated March 2001, and numbered GTNP/0001.

SEC. 3. ACQUISITION OF STATE LANDS.

(a) The Secretary is authorized to acquire approximately 1,406 acres of State lands within the exterior boundaries of Grand Teton National Park, as generally depicted on the map referenced in section 2(4), by any one or a combination of the following—

(1) donation;

(2) purchase with donated or appropriated funds; or

(3) exchange of Federal lands in the State of Wyoming that are identified for disposal under approved land use plans in effect on the date of enactment of this Act under section 202 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1712) that are of equal value to the State lands acquired in the exchange.

(b) In the event that the Secretary or the Governor determines that the Federal lands eligible for exchange under subsection (a)(3) are not sufficient or acceptable for the acquisition of all the State lands identified in section 2(4), the Secretary shall identify other Federal lands or interests therein in the State of Wyoming for possible exchange and shall identify such lands or interests together with their estimated value in a report to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the United States Senate and the Committee on Resources of the House of Representatives. Such lands or interests shall not be available for exchange unless authorized by an Act of Congress enacted after the date of submission of the report.

SEC. 4. VALUATION OF STATE AND FEDERAL INTERESTS.

(a) AGREEMENT ON APPRAISER.—If the Secretary and the Governor are unable to agree on the value of any Federal lands eligible for exchange under section 3(a)(3) or State lands, then the Secretary and the Governor may select a qualified appraiser to conduct an appraisal of those lands. The purchase or exchange under section 3(a) shall be conducted based on the values determined by the appraisal.

(b) NO AGREEMENT ON APPRAISER.—If the Secretary and the Governor are unable to agree on the selection of a qualified appraiser under subsection (a), then the Secretary and the Governor shall each designate a qualified appraiser. The two designated appraisers shall select a qualified third appraiser to conduct the appraisal with the advice and assistance of the two designated appraisers. The purchase or exchange under section 3(a) shall be conducted based on the values determined by the appraisal.

(c) APPRAISAL COSTS.—The Secretary and the State of Wyoming shall each pay one-half of the appraisal costs under subsections (a) and (b).

SEC. 5. ADMINISTRATION OF STATE LANDS ACQUIRED BY THE UNITED STATES.

The State lands conveyed to the United States under section 3(a) shall become part of Grand Teton National Park. The Secretary shall manage such lands under the Act of August 25, 1916 (commonly known as the "National Park Service Organic Act"), and other laws, rules, and regulations applicable to Grand Teton National Park.

SEC. 6. AUTHORIZATION FOR APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for the purposes of this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. CULBERSON). Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from Wyoming (Mrs. CUBIN) and the gentleman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Wyoming (Mrs. CUBIN).

Mrs. CUBIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I rise today to support a bill that is of great interest to the State of Wyoming and to many, many environmental groups across the country. It is not often that I can stand here and agree with the positions of most of the environmental groups that we deal with on a daily basis, but this Grand Teton National Park Land Exchange Act is one such environmental issue that I think everyone should support if they are in fact interested in maintaining the integrity of Grand Teton National Park.

One of the worst things that I can think of happening to Grand Teton National Park is to have an ultra-, ultra-wealthy person build themselves a mansion or a symbol of their wealth at the base of the Grand Tetons and destroy that beautiful open space and land that we fight so hard to protect and to fund every year. The Grand Teton National Park Land Exchange Act was introduced by Senator THOMAS and cosponsored by Senator ENZI and is supported by all five elected Wyoming State officials, the National Park Service, the local communities, and all of the environmental organizations that I am aware of. The measure passed the Senate on April 3, 2003, under unanimous consent.

This bill presents a unique opportunity with regard to Federal land management in our national parks that would greatly benefit the American people, as well as Wyoming school
